BIGGEST SALARY EVER FOR WORKER GOES "FAR LESS"

For First Time Machinist Expresses His Fear of The Future

TAXES PILE HIGHER

Head of Family of Five Has $462 Withheld from His $5,000 Salary

Taxes . . . taxes . . . taxes. Almost as popular a subject of daily talk as the weather. At this time of the year, probably even the weather runs second, with the March 15 deadline for payment of personal income taxes just days away.

Well, what about taxes? How much does the average-income city worker pay? The farmer? The small business man? The factory worker? What effect has the big jump in taxes in recent years had on their daily lives?

The article that follows, telling the tax story of a Detroit auto worker, is the first of five giving the inside-the-home answers as obtained by International News Service reporters from a cross-section of average Americans throughout the country.

"The Taxes We Pay"

ARTICLE I

By Al Eastman

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) DETROIT, Mich., Mar. 3.—(INS)—For as long as he can remember, Roy J. Bodenmiller has worked with his hands. And they show it.

But during 1951 Bodenmiller's capable machine-scarred hands produced a comparative bonanza for himself, his wife and three children.

Last year, Bodenmiller, an employee of Kaiser-Frazer Corp., earned more money than ever before in his life, a little over $5,000. But for the first time in his 38 years, the quiet red-haired machinist is fearful of the future.

His sharp blue eyes swept the tiny Bodenmiller living room, took in the new television set, the shiny pine wall paneling—and the quick movements of his wife, Nina, preparing supper for the family of five. Nearby were the three children, Mary Grace, 5, Roy, Jr., 2, and tiny six-week-old Joanne.

Then Bodenmiller spoke: "Sure, I earned more last year than ever before. But things cost more—food, clothing and almost everything else you can think of."

"The money just didn't go as far

Eight Pigs Are Badly Slashed by An Intruder

Using a sharp knife, an intruder slashed six young pigs and two sows on the farm of Mrs. Alexandra Barron, 63, and left them strewn in the pig sty.

Mrs. Barron reported the incident to Chief of Bensalem Township Police, George Rentz, yesterday. The slashing was discovered Saturday morning, and had evidently taken place during the night.

The bodies of six young pigs were lying at one end of the sty, and the two sows at the other. According to Chief Rentz the bodies and heads of all were badly slashed.

Mrs. Barron's farm is at Hulmeville and Byberry roads. She has been engaged in the raising of about 70 pigs for market.

Loss is estimated at $250.

A farm-hand made the discovery.

TRUMAN THE INVINCIBLE

There are a lot of legends and fairytales going the rounds which simply don't stand up against cold facts and figures.

One of these has to do with President Truman's vote-getting ability.

Harry Truman thinks he's pretty good, and a surprising number of persons have accepted his own estimate, and are reasoning on from them into all sorts of fallacies.

There is no question that Mr. Truman, since his victory over Dewey in 1948, has fancied himself a sort of jack-the-giant-killer, politically speaking.

Because he was able to win, virtually lone-handed, and to squeak through in a three-cornered fight, Mr. Truman has forgotten, and others overlooked, the fact that his success was singularly unimpressive.

Mr. Truman got substantially one-fourth of the qualified vote in the country. Half of it stayed home, and the other fourth was distributed between Republican and the Dixiecrat entries.

Actually, the combined anti-Truman vote somewhat exceeded the vote for him, but it was divided and so he won.

But here is something much more significant. Truman's vote was much less than the Democrats had mustered in the three previous elections. Here are the rounded-out figures: 27,500,000 votes for Roosevelt in 1936; 27,000,000 votes for Roosevelt in 1940; 26,500,000 votes for Roosevelt in 1944; only 24,000,000 votes for Harry Truman in 1948.

These figures become still more striking when two factors are recalled—first, that the population of the nation grew rapidly during the interim; and second, the enrollment of voters also soared. On a basis of percentage of total population, or of registration, the Truman showing is much worse than the actual figures reveal.

Next time someone comes forward to tell you that the New Deal theories are so nearly unbeatable that the

FRENCH-CANADIAN IS ON "WANTED" LIST

FBI Grimly Enrolls Isaac Beausoleil; Murdered Woman Companion

IS A "LONE WOLF"

The FBI has put murder fugitive Isaac Aldy (Frenchy) Beausoleil on its list of the nation's "ten most wanted criminals" as a replacement for bank robber Thomas Kling.

Kling was captured in New York Feb. 20, just two days after his pal, the fabulous "Slick Willie" Sutton, was apprehended after being spotted by an alert citizen.

Beausoleil is wanted for the brutal hammer slaying of a woman whose battered body was found in Monroe County, Mich., Aug. 17, 1949. He has a long criminal record and the G-men warn he is "extremely dangerous."

Twenty-two "most wanted" fugitives have been captured since International News Service began the FBI blacklist series two years ago and another was slain while resisting arrest.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

"Serious doubts" for the future of Korean truce talks were expressed by United Nations delegates, who accused the Communists of having broken agreements previously reached at Panmunjom.

Japan was showing less and less enthusiasm for the security agreement with the United States signed last week. The Left-wing Socialists said they would challenge the accord's constitutionality in Japan's Supreme Court.

Egypt's new Premier, Hilali Pasha, suspended Parliament for one month in preparation for talks with Britain on the Suez Canal and Sudanese problems and for the purification of governmental machinery.

Paul Reynaud's attempt to form a national union cabinet in France broke on the refusal of the Socialists to work with the Gaullists.

In Washington, Senators of both parties plan to open a drive today for action on a bill for a "non-partisan, Hoover-type survey commission" to study this country's relations with its NATO allies.

Major votes are scheduled in Congress this week. The House is to take up Universal Military Training, with the issue in doubt, and the Senate will consider what to do about statehood for Hawaii.

The battle over a controls bill to replace the one expiring June 30 opens today in a Senate committee.

HOPE OFFERED FOR MENTALLY RETARDED

Many Can Be Trained To Become Self-Supporting Members of Society

EDUCATION CAMPAIGN

The U. S. Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation in its recent publication, "The Vocational Rehabilitation of the Mentally Retarded," offers new hope that most of our country's four million mentally retarded can be trained to become producing, self-supporting members of society, it was reported today by Thomas M. Park, Jr., R. D. 1, Doylestown, president, Bucks County Chapter, Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children.

Proclaimed "the largest untapped labor pool in the country," it is believed that this group, with development of proper training facilities by state and local government, would help overcome America's critical shortage of semi-skilled and unskilled labor. At the same time it would remove a tremendous

WHITE OPPOSES FIRST-CLASS TWP

Pres't of Bensalem Supervisors Says There Are No Advantages

GIVES HIS REASONS

It will be too expensive to elevate Bensalem Township to one of the first-class status, is the opinion of William White, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of that district. White is chairman of the present Board of Supervisors of the district.

Emphasizing that his remarks were "personal views," the board chairman stated his position following the circulation last week of a petition by the Bensalem Township Taxpayers' Association, which seeks a referendum vote on the proposed change.

"Under present laws," White said, "we can do practically everything a first class township can do."

"All the proposed services will mean more money, and that necessarily means more taxes," he said.

The board chairman said he could think of only "one possible advantage" in the change. He described that as where the community might desire to annex itself to a borough or other municipality.

"There would be little chance of

IS TB FINALLY CORNERED?

A bright ray of hope has burst out with the announcement of a new and inexpensive anti-tuberculosis drug that may be the miracle that has been sought for centuries. Already thousands of people are refusing to see the caution sign: "This cannot yet be called a positive cure." Instead, they are looking forward to the next few months when the drug will be on the market, ready for physicians' prescriptions.

But, optimistic as reports are about this new drug, the more cautious mind dictates patience. It is true that, in one experiment, 44 desperately ill patients were given the drug and their temperatures returned to normal, they gained weight and became ravenously hungry.

There seems to be so much hope for this drug that the New York City commissioner of hospitals is already talking in terms of discarding plans for several new TB hospitals in that city. But in the background of this jubilation can be heard voices warning against relaxation in the fight against tuberculosis until there is additional proof that this drug will reduce TB to a comparatively rare disease.

If predictions are borne out by further studies, case findings and adequate treatment facilities will certainly be needed for years or decades. Early diagnosis will still be important and surgery may still play an important role in the field of tuberculosis.

The tuberculosis germ is a wily, crafty enemy of mankind. It has managed to survive all the powerful weapons brought against it by science. The question still to be answered is whether this new drug spells the end of tuberculosis or merely almost the end.

ARSENIC AND FRENCH LACE

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is an ancient play, frequently revived, about a couple of old ladies. Because they are not quite right in the head, they have one little fault—they poison people with arsenic.

People who laughed at the macabre humor of the play had never heard of an old French lady named Marie Besnard, and neither they nor anybody else suspected that for 25 years she had been dispensing arsenic. But police testified at her trial that she had done in two husbands and at least 10 additional relatives or friends.

The people whose deaths she mourned as much as anybody all left her money. The whole story would seem unrealistic if it appeared in fiction. Marie's second husband suspected he was being poisoned by her. He suggested to a friend that there be an autopsy if he died, but the latter waited two years before doing anything about it. Since then body after body has been dug up, well preserved by arsenic deposits.

Life, as has been remarked, frequently imitates art.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Oct. 29, 1903. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

LANGHORNE—The steam shovel is doing vigorous work on the Pennsylvania Railroad at the golf links and the heavy blasting at night off disturbs our slumbers. The bridge off North Pine has been completed and the road that has been closed so long will be opened for travel. They have now started to open the road from Bellevue to Pine street.

HULMEVILLE—The new grist mill built by Spencer B. Hibbs was put into operation on Tuesday and is now open for business. A large stock of feed will always be kept on hand. John Reed, who was employed in the Hulmeville Roller Mill before it was sold, is the miller in charge.

NEWPORTVILLE—The oyster shell road between Grundy's corner and the late Samuel Hulme farm is a good example of their use for that purpose. A young man who formerly resided in this place, but who now resides in New Jersey, made the following remark about oyster shell roads: "Oyster shells make the very best roads. On hard roads they break up easily but on soft ground they become hard as cement, and if put on thickly—say one foot in thickness—they will last for several years. Of course, they need attention. One can see the roads on the darkest night, the phosphorescent light being almost equal to moonlight. He states also that down in Maryland and Delaware oyster shells are used altogether for road building, being much cheaper than gravel or stone."

EMILIE—Edward Minster, the popular auctioneer, has his voice in fine trim for work.

The William H. Moon Co., of Morrisville, has just received a large order from the Government at Washington. Some of their finest specimen trees will be planted on the White House grounds, while 12,000 dwarf box bush will be used in edging the formal garden there. The urns and jardinières about the executive mansion will be kept green this winter by young evergreens supplied by Bucks County's largest nursery.

On last Thursday evening Fidelity Council, No. 21, Jr. O. U. A., was presented with a box of cigars by Harry Sheppard in honor of his recent marriage. A can of ice cream was also received from James H. Brooks, in remembrance of a similar event.

At a meeting of the members of the Bristol High School Alumni held on last Thursday evening the following officers were re-elected: Howard R. Thornton, president; William G. Minster, vice-president; Miss Anna A. Lattimer, secretary and treasurer. A committee was appointed to revise the rules of the association. Another committee was also appointed to prepare an entertainment for the next meeting. The association will give a masque party for members and friends on Halloween.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Harry Arnold at his parents' home, corner of Radcliffe and Mulberry streets, on last Thursday evening. Games suitable to the occasion were indulged in, after which refreshments were served. Those present were: Helma

Stout, Mary Pedrick, Sadie McNally, Bessie Brennan, Pearl Parsons, Gertrude Wessau, Reba Hibbs, Harry Arnold, Serrill Detlefson, Edward Stetson, Elwood Tolan, George Gillingham, Joseph Marshall, Samuel Pearson, William Lefferts, Elwood Goslin, William Fine, Joseph Taylor.

On Tuesday evening Shepherd's Delight Lodge, No. 1, of Bristol, gave a "sock social" for the entertainment of the members and their friends, there being about 150 present. After the entertainment refreshments were served. The following programme was also rendered: Piano and violin duet, by the Misses Hoffman; song, Miss Jennie Appleton; piano solo, Miss Helma Stout; song, Miss Bessie North; piano and violin duet, Misses Hoffman; vocal duet, Miss Jennie and Clifford Appleton; piano solo, Miss Lizzie Haggas; cake walk, Miss Mabel Haggas; piano and violin duet, Misses Hoffman. A play entitled "In Want of a Servant," was also given.

On Thursday evening a party of friends completely surprised Borough Treasurer H. H. Poole at his home on Wood street, Bristol, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. Mrs. Poole kept the secret of the intended visit, and the custodian of the borough's funds gasped with surprise when he found the merry makers had taken possession of the house. At midnight supper was served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Breisford, Mr. and Mrs. J. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. George Callanan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Young, Mr.

and Mrs. James H. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Vanzant, Mr. and Mrs. John Neisser, Miss Anna Wright and Dr. J. E. Wright. Armed with his phonograph and a batch of the latest records, Frank T. Chambers enlivened the occasion.

French-Canadian Is On "Wanted" List

Aug. 17, 1949, when the woman's body was found in a ditch in London Township, Monroe County, Michigan.

The victim's head was caved in from the blows of a blunt instrument, apparently a hammer. The FBI identified her as Rose Trahan, a former resident of Worcester, Mass., and Danielson, Conn., who traveled with Beausoliel.

A few days after the slaying, Beausoliel's automobile was found abandoned in Boston. On Aug. 31, 1949, he was formally accused of first degree murder at Monroe, Mich., and a Detroit grand jury indicted him as a Federal fugitive Sept. 13.

Beausoliel is a native of Simcoe County, Ontario, Canada, and he is being sought by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as well as the FBI. He is an "alumnus" of the Prohibition era's bootlegging racket and is familiar with the terrain of the U. S.-Canadian border.

The neatly-dressed "Frenchy" has a criminal record dating back many years. He has served time in Sing Sing, the Rhode Island State Prison, and the Attica (N. Y.) Prison, from which he once escaped.

He was deported to Canada in 1943 for crimes involving moral turpitude, but quickly returned to the U. S.

Beausoliel is known in the underworld as a "lone wolf." He is invariably armed and the FBI warns that he is "extremely dangerous." He acquires automobiles by stealing them, never keeps a car very long, and always secretes a gun somewhere in the vehicle.

"Frenchy" likes to roller skate and to play Chinese checkers. He is fond of cats and once had a white kitten called "Fluffy." He has talked about getting a patent on a locking device for a tire or hubcap. He is an expert penman.

Other identifying characteristics: Aliases—Albert C. Amos, Charlie Beausoliel, G. Martin, Antoine Beausoliel, "Al," and others.

Description—Age, 49; height, five feet 10 inches; weight, 170 pounds; build, medium; hair, dark brown; eyes, brown; complexion, dark; race, white; nationality, Canadian. Scars and marks—Deep dimple in point of chin, diagonal scar at first joint of left little finger.

NEWPORTVILLE

The Ladies Auxiliary of Newportville Fire Co. No. 1, will hold a meeting this evening in the fire station. Election of officers will be held.

Newportville Girl Scout Troop No. 21 leader, together with Croydon Girl Scout leader, were hostesses on Thursday evening in Langhorne community house to south district leaders.

HELP YOU COOK DINNER... ELECTRICALLY!

No king ever had the convenience and service that are yours to command when you switch on your electric range. Behind this range that cooks so cool, so quick—plus your dozens of other electrical servants—are the vast resources, and the more than 8000 people, who make up your electric company. These neighbors of yours maintain a 24-hour schedule of uninterrupted electric power to meet your needs. These benefits of electricity are yours through the services of a tax-paying, privately-owned company. That's part of the American way.

Electricity is still one of the lowest priced necessities in the family budget.

Republicans will have to imitate them to have a chance, or to insist that farmers, or labor, or some other group "won't vote against Santa Claus," just bear in mind that the figures tell a different story.

Just remember that, giveaways or no giveaways, more Americans voted against Truman last time than voted for him. Bear in mind that the higher the socialistic giveaways have soared, the more rapidly the electoral support of the Democratic party has fallen.

There is another current dogma being bandied about in political circles which doesn't show up so well in statistics.

That is the theory that the most fool-proof issue available to the Republicans is corruption in government—"throw the rascals out."

There are definite reasons why this is a welcome suggestion to many Republicans. The fact is that there is much difference of opinion in certain Republican circles on some of the other issues, so that if all could get together on this one, internal friction might be avoided.

But there is a quite contrary theory, to the effect that the corruption, no matter how disturbing and how urgently it calls for being wiped out, is after all nothing more than a symptom of much greater issues—inflation, for instance; and government-by-giveaways; and international poker-games and pressure blocs.

What about corruption as an issue? Pennsylvania has the story, and many Pennsylvanians think they know it. You can find thousands of persons who will tell you, concerning the fate of the Little New Deal back in 1938, that the Democrats at Harrisburg split up in quarrels over dividing the loot, and that the stench of corruption in Democratic ranks made the election of a Republican a cinch.

Nothing could be further from the fact. The truth is that after the frantic fights of the Democratic primary in 1938, the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania closed ranks and brought out nearly 300,000 more votes than had ever been cast for any party's candidate in any previous state election.

As a matter of fact, skip one election, and the Democratic outpouring in 1938, despite the corruption issue and the primary battles, was nearly three-quarters of a million more than any other turnout.

Look at the record. Pinchot won in 1930 with 1,068,000 votes. Earle won in 1934 with 1,476,000.

Charles Alvin Jones, backed by a supposedly "demoralized" and repudiated Democratic party in the fall of 1938, got the amazing total of 1,756,000.

How could he lose? Well, it was his misfortune to be running against the spectacular campaign put on by Arthur H. James, who broke all the records by a still greater margin, and polled what is still the highwater mark for Pennsylvania governors—2,035,000.

But the point is that you can't count out a well-entrenched and well-fortified party such as the Democrats are nationally today, and such as they were in Pennsylvania in 1938, merely because they suffer from internal difficulties, and because some of their followers get caught with fingers in the till.

burden from the taxpayer. To bring the problem of Pennsylvania's estimated 300,000 retarded before our government officials, educators, physicians, and the general public, the Association is launching a state wide educational campaign beginning this week.

Apart from its current drive to bring this social question into the open, P. A. R. C. has, since its founding less than three years ago, done much to lessen the misfortune that befalls the family of a mentally retarded child. Three schools, one in Montgomery county, another in Delaware county, and still another in Northampton were established by the organization and it has worked steadfastly to improve conditions in state institutions, although much still remains to be done.

An outstanding achievement is the family relations program. Parents brought into this group of people with similar problems soon learn that they are not isolated and alone. The Association's free scientific courses, which convince parents that nearly every case of birth anomaly is the result of accident, quickly explodes the "old wives' tales" that torture such a family with guilt and shame.

As an affiliate of the recently organized National Association for Retarded Children, the Pennsylvania group is one of the country's largest contributors to that organization's program for medical research and public relations.

"Mental retardation should not be confused with delinquency," advised Dr. Sterling A. McKinnon, well-known psychiatrist and a vice-president of the P. A. R. C. "The rate of delinquency among children under 50 I. Q. is generally regarded to be lower than average. Moreover, we are proving that often a child as low as 20 I. Q. if physically sound, can be trained to gainful employment."

Persons seeking additional information should contact the local chapter through Mrs. Chris Miller, 509 Maple avenue, Doylestown, or write directly to the Pennsylvania Ass'n for Retarded Children, Central Medical Building, Philadelphia 3.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Donald E. May
Pastor
Eddington Presbyterian Church

What is Prayer?
John Calvin said that "prayer is conversation with God. A writer of a spiritual called prayer "a little talk with Jesus."

Prayer is not artful monologue of voice uplifted from the soul. It is love's tender dialogue between the soul and God.

(J. A. Moreland)
Prayer is a form of speaking with God that may take place anytime, anywhere. People pray in church on Sundays. Children pray at night by their beds. Soldiers pray from muddy fox-holes on battlefields whenever they need to. Workers pray in noisy factories during their working day. Mothers pray while bending over their stoves or doing their housework.

When a person prays he says many things to God. He says, "Thank you," "Forgive me," "Make me better than I am," "Help me out of this mess I'm in." One can talk with God about anything that touches His life or one's own.

Praise God that he's willing to converse with us even though we treat Him so shamefully at times.

last year as it has before. And then, new taxes. . . . And they're talking about more."

Actually, Bodenmiller's hands earned him $5,099.21 in 1951. But these sums—money he never saw—were deducted regularly from his bi-weekly paychecks.

A total of $462.93 was withheld for income taxes, $54 for hospitalization, $38 for union dues and $10 for the United Foundation, a combined organization of charities.

That left $4,534.28 from which Bodenmiller made payments on a small five-room house, a car, the television set and spent between $25 and $30 weekly for food.

Bodenmiller is unique among Detroit-area auto workers in a very important respect:
He was regularly employed during 1951 while an estimated 175,000 fellow auto workers were jobless at year's end because of defense conversion shutdowns.

Kaiser-Frazer is producing autos and cargo planes on separate assembly lines under the same roof and actually added to its work force in 1951.

Bodenmiller started at Willow Run in 1946 as a welder repairman, earning $2.07 per hour. In 1949, he was "promoted" to machine repairman but earned the same hourly wage.

Last July, he received another promotion; became a tool maker and began earning $2.12 hourly. Overtime, Saturday work and other special premiums boosted his annual income beyond the $5,000 mark, and the future brightened.

Under Michigan's community property law Bodenmiller is filing his 1951 income tax return jointly with his wife. Exemptions will trim the actual tax Bodenmiller will have to pay. He expects a refund of about $130.

How will he use it?
Bodenmiller answered:
"The car needs new tires, the babies need clothing—dozens of necessary things."

But other years were different in the Bodenmiller home. For instance, 1949:

K-F found the going tough in the auto industry in 1949. Bodenmiller was laid off for four months that year. He earned $2,700 and paid taxes of slightly more than $100.

K-F workers in 1949 paid for their own hospitalization insurance. Later, a new union contract with the company brought them increased benefits, including joint hospital coverage.

In 1950, the government sent Bodenmiller a check for $26.46 in tax returns on his 1949 earnings. But that went for "household expenses."

"We couldn't afford to use it for anything else," he said.

A meticulous man around the house, Bodenmiller files his tax information in a series of envelopes which he keeps in a dresser drawer.

"That way," he explained, "it's always at my fingertips."
Bodenmiller has no trouble making out a tax return. "It's like falling off a log. And, anyway, I kind of enjoy it. They send you a little book with all the answers."

He finds Form 1040 self-explanatory but sometimes asks his wife to help.

"Two heads are better than one, and she checks my arithmetic."
Before going to K-F, Bodenmiller worked on the production line at Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn. He is considered a veteran in the industry, even at 38.

The best year he can remember before 1951 was 1943, at the peak of defense mobilization for World War II. He recalls earning $3,600 that year, and, as a single man, paid out $634.96 in normal taxes, surtaxes and victory taxes.

Married now, Bodenmiller considers a Sunday drive with the family a good form of relaxation. At least once a week, he bowls in a 12-team bowling circuit. At a neat 170, he holds the anchor post on his five-man team.

Like millions of other American families, the Bodenmillers have had to scrimp some on their food budget.

"We don't eat as much meat as we'd like to. But others don't either. I try not to waste what Roy earns. We try to save a little bit now and then."

The Bodenmillers' tiny home is 11 miles from K-F's sprawling Wil-

BRISTOL CLUBMEN'S ASS'N

The Loyal Order of Moose defeated the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the semi-finals of the Clubmen's Association Dart League playoffs and earned the right to meet the Mutual Aid Society in the finals beginning tomorrow evening. The Mutual Aid Society, managed by Leonard Egrandi, recently defeated one of the finest dart teams in Philadelphia and is anxiously awaiting the final playoffs with the Moose. The winner of the Vets-Moose match was not decided until the final game, Manager "Hap" Schweizer of the Vets had his strongest team on hand for this final game. Going into the ninth inning of this game the score was tied at 169 all. Here the champions of last season showed their colors and came through with the pressure on to out-score the Vets 22 to 16 to capture the game and series. Thus this stunning defeat of the Vets by the Moose ended a winning streak of the Vets that lasted midway through the season and had carried them to a playoff position. The final playoffs between Mutual Aid and the Moose will renew an old rivalry between the two teams for the league championship. The Mutual Aid Society was the champion of the 1949-50 season while the Moose was the 1950-51 champion. Immediately preceding this game a managers' meeting will be held at 7:30 at the Mutual Aid home for the purpose of settling the league's banquet.

Penna's Steel Leadership Will Be Unchallenged

STATE COLLEGE, Mar. 3—The great expansion of the steel industry now underway in this country will leave Pennsylvania's steel production leadership unchallenged in its relative strength, both outside and inside its own northeastern district, says Dr. Vaclav E. Mares, assistant professor of economics at the Pennsylvania State College.

Tracing the movement of the steel industry during the past 15 years, Dr. Mares points out that steel centers in the West and the South grew more rapidly than those in the Northeast from 1936 to 1946, but that investments now in progress have reversed this trend.

Dr. Mares reminds that wartime expansion was motivated to a large extent by military and strategic considerations and much of it was financed by the federal government. When the industry returned to private financing of its own expansion program, the Northeast district seemed to have regained all of its former appeal.

Abandonment in 1948 of the basing point pricing system and the growing dependence of our steel industry on imported ores are listed by Dr. Mares as two important reasons for the trend back to the northeastern district.

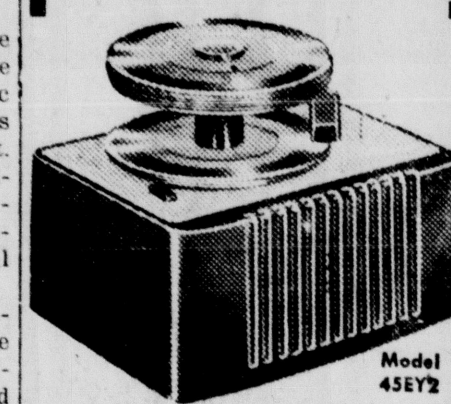

"These trends in the flow of our private steel capacity investments offer most convincing evidence of the lasting strength of the natural forces that made our great northeastern states the great steel producing region of our continent and of the world," Dr. Mares says. "When undisturbed by tactical considerations in its investment planning and concentrated only on the achievement of highest profits, the steel industry finds that the best locations with the optimum cost factors combinations are still in its oldest northeastern district."

For First Time Machinist Expresses His Fear of The Future

TAXES PILE HIGHER

Head of Family of Five Has $462 Withheld from His $5,000 Salary

DETROIT, Mich., Mar. 3.—(INS)—For as long as he can remember, Roy J. Bodenmiller has worked with his hands. And they show it. But during 1951 Bodenmiller's capable machine—scarred hands produced a comparative bonanza for himself, his wife and three children.

Last year, Bodenmiller, an employee of Kaiser-Frazer Corp., earned more money than ever before in his life, a little over $5,000. But for the first time in his 38 years, the quiet red-haired machinist is fearful of the future.

Eight Pigs Are Badly Slashed by An Intruder

Using a sharp knife, an intruder slashed six young pigs and two sows on the farm of Mrs. Alexandra Barron, 63, and left them strewn in the pig sty.

Mrs. Barron reported the incident to Chief of Bensalem Township Police, George Rentz, yesterday. The slashing was discovered Saturday morning, and had evidently taken place during the night.

The bodies of six young pigs were lying at one end of the sty, and the two sows at the other. According to Chief Rentz the bodies and heads of all were badly slashed.

Mrs. Barron's farm is at Hulmeville and Byberry roads. She has been engaged in the raising of about 70 pigs for market.

Loss is estimated at $250.

A farm-hand made the discovery.

TRUMAN THE INVINCIBLE

There are a lot of legends and fairytales going the rounds which simply don't stand up against cold facts and figures.

One of these has to do with President Truman's vote-getting ability.

Harry Truman thinks he's pretty good, and a surprising number of persons have accepted his own estimate, and are reasoning on from them into all sorts of fallacies.

There is no question that Mr. Truman, since his victory over Dewey in 1948, has fancied himself a sort of jack-the-giant-killer, politically speaking.

Because he was able to win, virtually lone-handed, and to squeak through in a three-cornered fight, Mr. Truman has forgotten, and others overlooked, the fact that his success was singularly unimpressive.

Mr. Truman got substantially one-fourth of the qualified vote in the country. Half of it stayed home, and the other fourth was distributed between Republican and the Dixiecrat entries.

Actually, the combined anti-Truman vote somewhat exceeded the vote for him, but it was divided and so he won.

But here is something much more significant. Truman's vote was much less than the Democrats had mustered in the three previous elections. Here are the rounded-out figures: 27,500,000 votes for Roosevelt in 1936; 27,000,000 votes for Roosevelt in 1940; 26,500,000 votes for Roosevelt in 1944; only 24,000,000 votes for Harry Truman in 1948.

These figures become still more striking when two factors are recalled—first, that the population of the nation grew rapidly during the interim; and second, the enrollment of voters also soared. On a basis of percentage of total population, or of registration, the Truman showing is much worse than the actual figures reveal.

Next time someone comes forward to tell you that the New Deal theories are so nearly unbeatable that the

FRENCH-CANADIAN IS ON "WANTED" LIST

FBI Grimly Enrolls Isaac Beausoleil; Murdered Woman Companion IS A "LONE WOLF"

The FBI has put murder fugitive Isaac Aldy (Frenchy) Beausoleil on its list of the nation's "ten most wanted criminals" as a replacement for bank robber Thomas Kling.

Kling was captured in New York Feb. 20, just two days after his pal, the fabulous "Slick Willie" Sutton, was apprehended after being spotted by an alert citizen.

Beausoleil is wanted for the brutal hammer slaying of a woman whose battered body was found in Monroe County, Mich., Aug. 17, 1949. He has a long criminal record and the G-men warn he is "extremely dangerous."

Twenty-two "most wanted" fugitives have been captured since International News Service began the FBI blacklist series two years ago and another was slain while resisting arrest.

HOPE OFFERED FOR MENTALLY RETARDED

Many Can Be Trained To Become Self-Supporting Members of Society

EDUCATION CAMPAIGN

The U. S. Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation in its recent publication, "The Vocational Rehabilitation of the Mentally Retarded," offers new hope that most of our country's four million mentally retarded can be trained to become producing, self-supporting members of society. It was reported today by Thomas M. Park, Jr., R. D. 1, Doylestown, president, Bucks County Chapter, Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children.

Proclaimed "the largest untapped labor pool in the country," it is believed that this group, with development of proper training facilities by state and local government, would help overcome America's critical shortage of semi-skilled and unskilled labor. At the same time it would remove a tremendous

SCENE OF $2,500,000 ROBBERY

THIS IS THE FORTRESS-LIKE Reno, Nev., home of multimillionaire Lawrence V. Redfield, where burglars made what is perhaps the biggest haul in history. The robbers, after tossing a ham bone to the watchdog, carted off a heavy safe that contained $2,500,000 in cash, jewelry and negotiable securities. A suitcase containing another million dollars worth of securities went untouched. Redfield has failed to reveal why he kept the huge fortune around the house. (International)

According to Ralph Munyon, board chairman, decisions will be made within 10 days.

WHITE OPPOSES FIRST-CLASS TWP

Pres't of Bensalem Supervisors Says There Are No Advantages

GIVES HIS REASONS

It will be too expensive to elevate Bensalem Township to one of the first-class status, is the opinion of William White, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of that district. White is chairman of the present Board of Supervisors of the district.

Emphasizing that his remarks were "personal views," the board chairman stated his position following the circulation last week of a petition by the Bensalem Township Taxpayers' Association, which seeks a referendum vote on the proposed change.

"Under present laws," White said, "we can do practically everything in a first class township can do."

"All the proposed services will mean more money, and that necessarily means more taxes," he said. The board chairman said he could think of only "one possible advantage" in the change. He described that as where the community might desire to annex itself to a borough or other municipality.

"There would be little chance of

One Admits Stealing Money From His Mother To Buy Jalopy

ALSO PURCHASE BEER

Judge Keller Says Croydon Area Taprooms Need "Cleaning Up"

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 3.—Croydon youths amazed the court Thursday when they testified how they buy beer, lie about their age to own a car, and one admitted he stole money from his mother to pay $85 for a jalopy.

A 15-year-old boy admitted that his mother swore falsely that he was 16 so that he could own a car and get an operator's license.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller, who said that Croydon and that area needs a cleaning up of taprooms, suspended a prison sentence of Raymond Jenigen, 18, 708 State rd., Croydon, who pleaded guilty to buying beer for minors. He was given a suspended prison sentence of three months and placed on probation for two years.

"Although you are the oldest in years, you are the least delinquent of the boys here today," President Judge Keller said. "Don't you know that you boys can get a taproom owner in trouble just by going into his place unless you are accompanied by an adult?"

Douglas Lantz, 15, horrified the court when he testified that his mother swore falsely that he was 16 years old so that he could buy a car and apply for an operator's license.

Andrew Holden, 13, who owned a car for which he paid $85, testified that he stole the money from his mother in order to buy the car. Alfred Jayne, 14; Donald Epp, 14, and Donald Lantz, 14, all admitted they drank some of the beer.

Frequently, the Court, referring to their Juvenile Court testimony, had to correct them as to the honesty of their evidence.

"You obtained your operator's license illegally with the connivance of your mother, didn't you?" Judge Keller asked Douglas Lantz.

The six boys drank the beer near Tullytown bridge. They bought the beer in a Croydon and Holmesburg taprooms. They rode around going to Trenton, N. J., and Newtown.

Holden, 13, who admitted that he stole from his mother to pay for his car, said: "I can't remember when I took my first drink."

Donald Epp testified that Lantz and Jenigen bought the six bottles of beer.

IS TB FINALLY CORNERED?

A bright ray of hope has burst out with the announcement of a new and inexpensive anti-tuberculosis drug that may be the miracle that has been sought for centuries. Already thousands of people are refusing to see the caution sign: "This cannot yet be called a positive cure." Instead, they are looking forward to the next few months when the drug will be on the market, ready for physicians' prescriptions.

But, optimistic as reports are about this new drug, the more cautious mind dictates patience. It is true that, in one experiment, 44 desperately ill patients were given the drug and their temperatures returned to normal, they gained weight and became ravenously hungry.

There seems to be so much hope for this drug that the New York City commissioner of hospitals is already talking in terms of discarding plans for several new TB hospitals in that city. But in the background of this jubilation can be heard voices warning against relaxation in the fight against tuberculosis until there is additional proof that this drug will reduce TB to a comparatively rare disease.

If predictions are borne out by further studies, case findings and adequate treatment facilities will certainly be needed for years or decades. Early diagnosis will still play an important role in the field of tuberculosis.

The tuberculosis germ is a wily, crafty enemy of mankind. It has managed to survive all the powerful weapons brought against it by science. The question still to be answered is whether this new drug spells the end of tuberculosis or merely almost the end.

ARSENIC AND FRENCH LACE

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is an ancient play, frequently revived, about a couple of old ladies. Because they are not quite right in the head, they have one little fault—they poison people with arsenic.

People who laughed at the nicable humor of the play had never heard of an old French lady named Marie Besnard, and neither they nor anybody else suspected that for 25 years she had been dispensing arsenic. But police testified at her trial that she had done in two husbands and at least 10 additional relatives or friends.

The people whose deaths she mourned as much as anybody all left her money. The whole story would seem unrealistic if it appeared in fiction. Marie's second husband suspected he was being poisoned by her. He suggested to a friend that there be an autopsy if he died, but the latter waited two years before doing anything about it. Since then body after body has been dug up, well preserved by arsenic deposits.

Life, as has been remarked, frequently imitates art.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Oct. 29, 1903. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

LANGHORNE—The steam shovel is doing vigorous work on the Pennsylvania Railroad at the golf links and the heavy blasting at night off disturbs our slumbers.
The bridge off North Pine has been completed and the road that has been closed so long will be opened for travel. They have now started to open the road from Bellevue to Pine street.

HULMEVILLE—The new grist mill built by Spencer B. Hibbs was put into operation on Tuesday and is now open for business. A large stock of feed will always be kept on hand. John Reed, who was employed in the Hulmeville Roller Mill before it was sold, is the miller in charge.

NEWPORTVILLE—The oyster shell road between Grundy's corner and the late Samuel Hulme farm is a good example of their use for that purpose. A young man who formerly resided in this place, but who now resides in New Jersey, made the following remark about oyster shell roads: "Oyster shells make the very best roads. On hard roads they break up easily but on soft ground they become hard as cement, and if put on thickly—say one foot in thickness—they will last for several years. Of course, they need attention. One can see the roads on the darkest night, the phosphorescent light being almost equal to moonlight. He states also that down in Maryland and Delaware oyster shells are used altogether for road building, being much cheaper than gravel or stone."

EMILIE—Edward Minster, the popular auctioneer, has his voice in fine trim for work.

The William H. Moon Co., of Morrisville, has just received a large order from the Government at Washington. Some of their finest specimen trees will be planted on the White House grounds, while 12,000 dwarf box bush will be used in edging the formal garden there.
The urns and jardinières about the executive mansion will be kept

French-Canadian Is On "Wanted" List

Aug. 17, 1949, when the woman's body was found in a ditch in London Township, Monroe County, Michigan.

The victim's head was caved in from the blows of a blunt instrument, apparently a hammer. The FBI identified her as Rose Trahan, a former resident of Worcester, Mass., and Danielson, Conn., who traveled with Beausoliel.

A few days after the slaying, Beausoliel's automobile was found abandoned in Boston. On Aug. 31, 1949, he was formally accused of first degree murder at Monroe, Mich., and a Detroit grand jury indicted him as a Federal fugitive Sept. 13.

Beausoliel is a native of Simcoe County, Ontario, Canada, and he is being sought by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as well as the FBI. He is an "alumnus" of the Prohibition era's bootlegging racket and is familiar with the terrain of the U. S.-Canadian border.

The neatly-dressed "Frenchy" has a criminal record dating back many years. He has served time in Sing Sing, the Rhode Island State Prison, and the Attica (N. Y.) Prison, from which he once escaped.

He was deported to Canada in 1943 for crimes involving moral turpitude, but quickly returned to the U. S.

Beausoliel is known in the underworld as a "lone wolf." He is invariably armed and the FBI warns that he is "extremely dangerous."
He acquires automobiles by stealing them, never keeps a car very long, and always secretes a gun somewhere in the vehicle.

"Frenchy" likes to roller skate and to play Chinese checkers. He is fond of cats and once had a white kitten called "Fluffy." He has talked about getting a patent on a locking device for a tire or hubcap. He is an expert penman.

Other identifying characteristics:
Aliases—Albert C. Amos, Charlie
Beausoliel, G. Martin, Antoine Beausoliel, "Al," and others.

Description—Age, 49; height, five feet 10 inches; weight, 170 pounds; build, medium; hair, dark brown;
eyes, brown; complexion, dark;
race, white; nationality, Canadian.
Scars and marks—Deep dimple in point of chin, diagonal scar at first joint of left little finger.

Truman The Invincible

Republicans will have to imitate them to have a chance, or to insist that farmers, or labor, or some other group "won't vote against Santa Claus," just bear in mind that the figures tell a different story.

Just remember that, giveaways or no giveaways, more Americans voted against Truman last time than voted for him. Bear in mind that the higher the socialistic giveaways have soared, the more rapidly the electoral support of the Democratic party has fallen.

There is another current dogma being bandied about in political circles which doesn't show up so well in statistics.

That is the theory that the most fool-proof issue available to the Republicans is corruption in government — "throw the rascals out."

There are definite reasons why this is a welcome suggestion to many Republicans. The fact is that there is much difference of opinion in certain Republican circles on some of the other issues, so that if all could get together on this one, internal friction might be avoided.

But there is a quite contrary theory, to the effect that the corruption, no matter how disturbing and how urgently it calls for being wiped out, is after all nothing more than a symptom of much greater issues—inflation, for instance; and government-by-giveaways; and international poker-games and pressure blocs.

What about corruption as an issue? Pennsylvania has the story, and many Pennsylvanians think they know it. You can find thousands of persons who will tell you, concerning the fate of the Little New Deal back in 1938, that the Democrats at Harrisburg split up in quarrels over dividing the loot, and that the stench of corruption in Democratic ranks make the election of a Republican a cinch.

Nothing could be further from the fact. The truth is that after the frantic fights of the Democratic primary in 1938, the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania closed ranks and brought out nearly 300,000 more votes than had ever been cast for any party's candidate in any previous state election.

As a matter of fact, skip one election, and the Democratic outpouring in 1938, despite the corruption issue and the primary battles, was nearly three-quarters of a million more than any other turnout.

Look at the record. Pinchot won in 1930 with 1,068,000 votes. Earle won in 1934 with 1,476,000.

Charles Alvin Jones, backed by a supposedly "demoralized" and repudiated Democratic party in the fall of 1938, got the amazing total of 1,756,000.

How could he lose? Well, it was his misfortune to be running against the spectacular campaign put on by Arthur H. James, who broke all the records by a still greater margin, and polled what is still the highwater mark for Pennsylvania governors — 2,035,000.

But the point is that you can't count out a well-entrenched and well-fortified party such as the Democrats are nationally today, and such as they were in Pennsylvania in 1938, merely because they suffer from internal difficulties, and because some of their followers get caught with fingers in the till.

burden from the taxpayer. To bring the problem of Pennsylvania's estimated 300,000 retarded before our government officials, educators, physicians, and the general public, the Association is launching a state wide educational campaign beginning this week.

Apart from its current drive to bring this social question out into the open, P. A. R. C. has, since its founding less than three years ago, done much to lessen the misfortune that befalls the family of a mentally retarded child. Three schools, one in Montgomery county, another in Delaware county, and still another in Northampton were established by the organization and it has worked steadfastly to improve conditions in state institutions, although much still remains to be done.

An outstanding achievement is the family relations program. Parents brought into this group of people with similar problems soon learn that they are not isolated and alone. The Association's free scientific courses, which convince parents that nearly every case of birth anomaly is the result of accident, quickly explodes the "old wives' tales" that torture such a family with guilt and shame.

As an affiliate of the recently organized National Association for Retarded Children, the Pennsylvania group is one of the country's largest contributors to that organization's program for medical research and public relations.

"Mental retardation should not be confused with delinquency," advised Dr. Sterling A. McKinnon, well-known psychiatrist and a vice-president of the P. A. R. C. "The rate of delinquency among children under 50 I. Q. is generally regarded to be lower than average. Moreover, we are proving that often a child as low as 20 I. Q. if physically sound, can be trained to gainful employment."

Persons seeking additional information should contact the local chapter through Mrs. Chris Miller, 509 Maple avenue, Doylestown, or write directly to the Pennsylvania Ass'n for Retarded Children, Central Medical Building, Philadelphia 3.

Youths Say They Lie About Age to Own Car

Chief of Police Joseph O. Seder of Bristol twp., who investigated the beer-buying and drinking escapades of the boys, testified they admitted buying five quart bottles in Croydon and six in a Holmesburg taproom.

Jenigen was in trouble once before because he used a stolen automobile inspection sticker, which he obtained from a friend on his car.

"Didn't your parents ever say anything about you coming in at 1 o'clock in the morning and staying out too late at night," Judge Keller asked Holden. "Yes, my mother hollered at me," he said.

When the defendant, Jenigen, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty, Judge Keller discharged the following jury:

Earl D. Hafner, Quakertown; Charles T. Doyle, Pennell; Raymond Furness, Upper Black Eddy; Herbert Eberhart, Point Pleasant; Rosanna McInnis, Lacey Park; Lloyd Ney, New Hope; Catherine Carr, Doylestown, RD 3; John Hartman, Quakertown, RD; Dorothy Cameron, Doylestown, RD; Robert Chase, Morrisville; Charles Arment, Trevoze, and Merle S. that with Bensalem," he added, "because it is next to Philadelphia, and there are no adjacent boroughs to which it could annex under present laws."

White said both first and second class townships now get the same amount of money from the county for road maintenance.

He also said that if the township remained second-class, there would be no need for the extra expense of maintaining the salaries of five commissioners required under a first-class setup.

Robert O'Neal, president of the taxpayers' association, on circulating his petition last week, said that "elevation of the status of the township would make possible a more flexible and efficient type of government to meet expanding needs of the community."

In the event the change was approved by the voters, the courts would appoint commissioners to serve for one year until regularly elected commissioners could take office.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Donald E. May
Pastor
Eddington Presbyterian Church

What is Prayer?
John Calvin said that "prayer is conversation with God. A writer of a spiritual called prayer "a little talk with Jesus."

Prayer is not artful monologue of voice uplifted from the soul. It is love's tender dialogue between the soul and God.

(J. A. Moreland)

Soldiers pray from muddy fox-holes on battlefields whenever they need to. Workers pray in noisy factories during their working day. Mothers pray while bending over their stoves or doing their housework.

When a person prays he says many things to God. He says, "Thank you;" "Forgive me;" "Make me better than I am;" "Help me out of this mess I'm in." One can talk with God about anything that touches his life or one's own.

Praise God that he's willing to converse with us even though we treat Him so shamefully at times.

Bodenmiller made payments on a small five-room house, a car, the television set and spent between $25 and $30 weekly for food.

Bodenmiller is unique among Detroit-area auto workers in a very important respect: He was regularly employed during 1951 while an estimated 175,000 fellow auto workers were jobless at year's end because of defense conversion shutdowns.

Kaiser-Frazer is producing autos and cargo planes on separate assembly lines under the same roof and actually added to its work force in 1951.

Bodenmiller started at Willow Run in 1946 as a welder repairman, earning $2.07 per hour. In 1949, he was "promoted" to machine repairman but earned the same hourly wage.

Last July, he received another promotion; became a tool maker and began earning $2.12 hourly. Overtime, Saturday work and other special premiums boosted his annual income beyond the $5,000 mark, and the future brightened.

Under Michigan's community property law Bodenmiller is filing his 1951 income tax return jointly with his wife. Exemptions will trim the actual tax Bodenmiller will have to pay. He expects a refund of about $130.

How will he use it? Bodenmiller answered: "The car needs new tires, the babies need clothing - dozens of necessary things."

But other years were different in the Bodenmiller home. For instance, 1949:

K-F found the going tough in the auto industry in 1949. Bodenmiller was laid off for four months that year. He earned $2,700 and paid taxes of slightly more than $100.

K-F workers in 1949 paid for their own hospitalization insurance. Later, a new union contract with the company brought them increased benefits, including joint hospital coverage.

In 1950, the government sent Bodenmiller a check for $26.46 in tax returns on his 1949 earnings. But that went for "household expenses."

"We couldn't afford to use it for anything else," he said.

A meticulous man around the house, Bodenmiller files his tax information in a series of envelopes which he keeps in a dresser drawer.

"That way," he explained, "it's always at my fingertips." Bodenmiller has no trouble making out a tax return. "It's like falling off a log. And, anyway, I kind of enjoy it. They send you a little book with all the answers."

He finds Form 1040 self-explanatory but sometimes asks his wife to help.

"Two heads are better than one, and she checks my arithmetic."

Before going to K-F, Bodenmiller worked on the production line at Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn. He is considered a veteran in the industry, even at 38.

The best year he can remember before 1951 was 1943, at the peak of defense mobilization for World War II. He recalls earning $3,600 that year, and, as a single man, paid out $634.96 in normal taxes, surtaxes and victory taxes.

Married now, Bodenmiller considers a Sunday drive with the family a good form of relaxation. At least once a week, he bowls in a 12-team bowling circuit. At a neat 170, he holds the anchor post on his five-man team.

Like millions of other American families, the Bodenmiller has had to scrimp some on their food budget.

"We don't eat as much meat as we'd like to. But others don't either. I try not to waste what I do eat. We try to save a little bit now and then."

The Bodenmiller's tiny home is 11 miles from K-F's sprawling Willow Run plant, but Bodenmiller explains:

"It's less expensive than living in the city and the kids have room to play. We're lucky, I guess." (Tomorrow: An Iowa farmer.)

BRISTOL HIGH TO PLAY TEAM FROM LAMBERTVILLE

Bristol High will play two home games this week, meeting Lambertville High tonight and Pennsylvania School for Deaf on Wednesday night. The junior varsity games on the playing nights will start at seven o'clock.

Coach Ben Watson is preparing his minions for the forthcoming P. L. A. A. tournament and has scheduled the two contests to keep his boys in trim.

Bob Stroble, Andy Accardi, Jim Gallagher, Harold Loud and Raul Stevens will start for the Warriors. It is most likely that Bristol will meet Central Bucks (Doylestown) in the quarter-final game of the tournament next Saturday night on the Stewart Junior High School floor, Norristown.

TERCHON POST TO MEET

Nomination of officers will take place tonight at the regular meeting of Chester W. Terchon Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the Post home on Franklin street. The meeting is scheduled to start promptly at eight o'clock as several matters of importance will be discussed in addition to the business of nominations. It is requested that every eligible member attend.

BRISTOL CLUBMEN'S ASS'N

The Loyal Order of Moose defeated the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the semi-finals of the Clubmen's Association Dart League playoffs and earned the right to meet the Mutual Aid Society in the finals beginning tomorrow evening. The Mutual Aid Society, managed by Leonard Egrandi, recently defeated one of the finest dart teams in Philadelphia and is anxiously awaiting the final playoffs with the Moose. The winner of the Vets-Moose match was not decided until the final game. Manager "Hap" Schweizer of the Vets had his strongest team on hand for this final game. Going into the ninth inning of this game the score was tied at 169 all. Here the champions of last season showed their colors and came through with the pressure on to out-score the Vets 22 to 16 to capture the game and series. Thus this stunning defeat of the Vets by the Moose ended a winning streak of the Vets that lasted midway through the season and had carried them to a playoff position. The final playoffs between Mutual Aid and the Moose will renew an old rivalry between the two teams for the league championship. The Mutual Aid Society was the champion of the 1949-50 season while the Moose was the 1950-51 champion. Immediately preceding this game a managers' meeting will be held at 7:30 at the Mutual Aid home for the purpose of settling the league's banquet.
